Right of Withdrawal in Distance Contracts
If you have taken out the insurance remotely, we inform you that if the insurance lasts longer than one month, you may withdraw from this contract within fourteen calendar days from the date of contracting, provided the contract has not been executed prior to exercising this right. To exercise the right of withdrawal, you must send an email to travel.es@allianz.com.
Please note that cancellation of the contract is not possible if you have had a claim or have started your journey.

Premium Payment
You are required to pay the premium at the time the insurance contract is formalized and in any case before the start of the trip. If, due to your fault, the premium has not been paid, we have the right to terminate the contract or demand payment of the due premium. In any case, if the premium has not been paid before the occurrence of the claim, we are not obligated to cover it unless you are not responsible for the non-payment. If we decide to cancel your contract, we will notify you in writing.
The premium is the one set in the Specific Conditions, corresponding to the initial coverage period indicated therein. Subsequent premiums must be paid on the respective due dates.

Multiple Insurance
If you have more than one insurance covering the same claim, you must notify us within 7 days of the occurrence of the claim, indicating the name(s) of the insurers covering the effects of this claim. If this communication is omitted fraudulently and the claim occurs in the case of overinsurance, the insurers are not obligated to pay the indemnity.

This includes not cooperating or not providing important information or failing to communicate changes that occur.

Negligence
If you or someone acting on your behalf reports a false or fraudulent incident or supports it with a false or fraudulent statement related to the risk or documentation, you will lose all benefits and premiums paid under the contract. We may also recover the cost of any covered incident we have resolved under this contract if we later discover it to be fraudulent. If you provide us with fraudulent information, statements, or documents, we may record this fact in fraud databases and may also notify other organizations. If a modification to the coverage or details of the insured object is necessary after the start of the contract and we accept it, this change will be subject to an additional recalculated premium to adjust to the change. Gross negligence on your part will entitle us to proportionally reduce the benefit according to the degree of culpability.

3) How will we obtain and use your personal data?

We will usually collect the personal data provided directly by the data subject through various means: data request forms, telephone conversations, postal or email communication, and fax.

Similarly, for the purposes indicated below, we may collect your personal data from other sources, such as access through public sources (official gazettes and bulletins, public records, social networks, and the Internet) or through third parties (family members and companions for the processing of records and claims; insurance brokers and distributors (travel agencies, tour operators) and other insurance companies for the formalization of insurance and reinsurance contracts; business partners, experts, lawyers, and other technical personnel for the management of claims and incidents; search information providers; financial sector companies).

We may process your personal data without your consent if necessary for the execution of the contract, provided there are no special categories of personal data involved, such as an insurance contract in which you are a party. Below, we explain the purposes and whether your explicit consent is required:

Purposes	Is your explicit consent required?
• To provide you with a quote and issue this insurance contract:	• No, as long as the processing of the data is necessary to fulfill the obligations established in the insurance contract to which you are a party and to take the necessary measures prior to formalizing this contract.
• Administration of the insurance contract (e.g., processing claims and incidents, investigations, and necessary expert evaluations to determine the existence and coverage of the declared claim and the amount of compensation to be paid or the type of assistance to be provided, etc.):	• We will request your explicit consent for managing claims and incidents that necessarily require the processing of the following categories of data: racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, union memberships, genetic or biometric data, health data, life or sexual orientation, criminal convictions, or offenses. • However, we may process this data without your consent if (1) there is a vital interest of the data subject or any other natural person and (2) the data subject is not physically or legally able to give consent (e.g., in emergency situations). • If the processing of the claim and/or incident does not require the processing of these special categories of data, we will not be required to obtain your consent as long as it is necessary to provide you with the benefits and/or services you are entitled to under the contracted insurance.
• To conduct quality surveys on the services provided to evaluate your level of satisfaction and improve it:	• No, as it constitutes a legitimate interest of the Data Controller to process the necessary personal data to contact you after managing a claim or providing assistance to ensure that we have fulfilled our obligations in relation to the benefits and/or services established in the insurance contract. However, you have the right to object to this by contacting us as specified in section 8 of this Declaration.

• For compliance with a legal obligation (e.g., those derived from laws regulating contracts and applicable insurance regulations, tax, accounting, and administrative obligations, compliance with anti-money laundering regulations, and reviewing payments to sanctioned individuals to ensure that no payment is made or services provided to persons, countries, or sectors sanctioned by regulations that prevent or restrict payments and/or the provision of services):	• No, as long as these processing activities are authorized or even expressly required by law, we are authorized to process your personal information and retain the necessary supporting documentation for these purposes without having to request your consent.
• Prevention, investigation, and detection of fraud, including, where appropriate, for example (but not limited to these activities only), comparing your information with previous service requests, claims, and/or incidents, or checking in common and shared claims management systems for insurance:	• No, as the detection and prevention of fraud is a legitimate interest of the data controller, and therefore, we are authorized to process your data for this purpose without the need to request your consent.
• Audit purposes, to comply with legal obligations or internal policies of the company or Allianz Partners Group:	• We may process your personal data within the framework of internal or external audits required by law or by the internal policies of the company or Allianz Partners Group. We will not request your consent for these processes as long as they are legitimized by the applicable legal and regulatory provisions or in application of the legitimate interest we have. However, we will ensure that only the strictly necessary personal data is used and that it is treated with absolute confidentiality. • Internal audits are usually carried out by our parent company, Allianz Partners SAS (7 Rue Dora Maar, 93400 Saint-Ouen, France).
• To conduct statistical and quality control analysis, based on aggregated data, as well as claims frequency analysis:	• If we carry out any of these processing activities, we will do so by grouping and anonymizing the data. After this process, the data is no longer considered "personal," and your consent is not required.
• To manage debt recovery (e.g., to claim payment of the premium or third-party liabilities, to distribute the compensation amount among different insurance companies covering the same risk in case of multiple insurance):	• No, when the processing of your personal data, including special categories of data (racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, union membership, genetic or biometric data, health, sexual life or orientation, criminal convictions or offenses), may be necessary to determine, exercise, or defend legal rights, we will process your data in accordance with our legitimate interest.

• To inform you, or allow Allianz Group companies and certain third parties to inform you, about products and services we think may interest you, in accordance with your marketing preferences: • You can modify these marketing preferences at any time through the links provided in each communication to unsubscribe, through the options in your client portal (when available), or by contacting us as specified in clause 8 below.	• We will process your personal information for these purposes only if the legislation permits it (and within the limits and requirements of those legal authorizations), or by obtaining your explicit consent after providing you with information about the criteria we use to create profiles and the impact/consequences and benefits for you of such profiling.
• To personalize your experience on our portals and websites (by presenting products, services, marketing messages, offers, and content tailored to you) or using computerized technology to assess which products may be most suitable for you. You can modify these processing activities using the options available in your browser (e.g., in the case of the use of cookies and similar devices) or by contacting us as specified in clause 8 below.	• We will request your explicit consent for the processing of your personal data.
• For automated decision-making, i.e., to make decisions that (1) are based solely on automated processing and (2) may have legal or significant effects on you. • Examples of automated decisions that may result in legal effects could include the automatic cancellation of a contract or the automated denial of a claim, which affects your rights under the insurance contract, etc. • Examples of automated decisions that may have similar significant effects include those affecting your financial circumstances (such as the automatic denial of an insurance policy) or your access to our healthcare services.	• We will obtain your consent for these processing activities (where applicable), particularly if the data in question are special categories of personal data (racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade union membership, genetic or biometric data, health, sexual life or sexual orientation, criminal convictions, or offenses). • If there is no relation to special categories of personal data and the purpose of these decisions is to underwrite your insurance and/or process your claim, we will not need to obtain your explicit consent.
• To redistribute risks through reinsurance and co-insurance.	• We may process and share your personal data with other insurance and reinsurance companies with which we have signed, or will sign, co-insurance or reinsurance agreements. Co-insurance is the coverage of risk by several insurance companies under a single insurance contract, where each one assumes a percentage of the risk, or coverage is distributed among them.

	Reinsurance is the "outsourcing" of the coverage of part of the risk to a third reinsurance company. However, this is an internal agreement between us and the reinsurer, and you do not have a direct contractual relationship with them. This distribution of risks is a legitimate interest of insurance companies and is often authorized by law (including the exchange of strictly necessary personal data for this purpose).

We will need your personal data if you wish to purchase our products and services. If you do not provide us with this data, we will not be able to enter into the insurance contract, nor provide the products and services you request or those in which you may be interested, or tailor our offers to your particular requirements.

For the purposes mentioned above, when we have indicated that your explicit consent is not necessary, or when we need your personal data to underwrite your insurance and/or process a claim, we will process your personal data based on our legitimate interests and/or to comply with the legal obligations that apply to us, and/or when it is necessary for the initiation or defense of legal claims, and/or in case of litigation and actions before the relevant judicial authorities in which we are cited as a party to the process.

If the processing of your personal data is carried out to safeguard our aforementioned legitimate interests or those of a third party, we will conduct a prior analysis to protect your interests and the fundamental rights and freedoms that require the protection of your personal data.

4) Who will have access to your personal data?

We will ensure that your personal data is treated confidentially by our staff, only when necessary according to the needs and in a manner consistent with the purposes mentioned above.
For the purposes established and under the indicated conditions, your personal data may be communicated to the following recipients, who will act as Data Controllers in the activity they perform:

Finally, we may share your personal data under the following circumstances:

- In the event of a restructuring, merger, sale, joint venture, assignment, transfer, or other disposition, planned or actual, of all or any part of our business, assets, or shares (including in connection with any bankruptcy or similar proceedings); and
- To comply with a legal obligation, including with the Ombudsman or the relevant regulatory or supervisory authority, if you file a complaint regarding the product or service we have provided to you.

5) Where will your personal data be treated?

Your personal data may be processed both within and outside the European Economic Area (EEA) by the parties specified in the previous clause 4, always subject to contractual limitations on confidentiality and security, in line with applicable data protection laws and regulations. We will not disclose your personal data to unauthorized third parties.

Whenever we transfer your personal data for processing outside the EEA by another company within the Allianz Group, we will do so under the approved Binding Corporate Rules of the Allianz Group, known as the Allianz Privacy Standard (Allianz BCRs), which provide adequate protection for personal data and are legally binding for all Allianz Group companies. The Allianz BCRs and the list of Allianz Group companies that are affected and must comply with them can be found here: https://www.allianz-partners.com/allianz-partners---binding-corporate-rules-.html.

When the Allianz BCRs do not apply, we will instead take steps to ensure that the transfer of your personal data outside the EEA receives an adequate level of protection, equivalent to that provided within the EEA. You can check what safeguards we rely on for such transfers (e.g., standard contractual clauses) by contacting us as detailed in clause 8 below.

6) What are your rights regarding your personal data?

In accordance with applicable legal provisions, and within the defined scope, you have the right to:

Once we receive your request, we will cease processing the personal data, except in legally permitted cases and circumstances.

You can request the exercise of your rights by writing to AWP P&C SA, Branch in Spain (indicating "SUBJECT DATA PROTECTION"), Cl Ramírez de Arellano 35, 28043 Madrid, or via email at azpes.privacy@allianz.com.
